

Advice of licensed building practitioner(s)

For restricted building work(s) under section 87 of the Building Act 2004

This form is to advise Southland District Council (SDC) under section 87 of the Building Act 2004 that the following licenced building practitioners have been engaged to undertake building work(s) which include restricted building work.

Note: If you are unsure if your building consent contains restricted building work (RBW), you can easily identify this via the approved building consent number. If the consent has an RBW prefix before the consent number, ie RBW/2020/100001/1 then the consent contains restricted building work.

The Form 6 application for code compliance certificate must be accompanied by the record of work (RoW) from the responsible licensed building practitioners (LBP) listed below for the identified building elements.

Heating units are not RBW where the flue penetration does not exceed 300mm diameter and/ or structural framing does not require modification. If either is necessary, a RoW will be required from the responsible LBP in support of the Form 6 application for code compliance certificate
